

HISTORY, THEORY AND TECHNIQUES OF CATALOGUING IN THE UNIVERSITA' DELLA TUSCIA-VITERBO BETWEEN 1992 AND 2005: A REPORT

TIZIANA CALVITTI, MANUELA GRILLO¹

1. Statutory introduction. Since the institution of the Faculty of Conservazione dei Beni Culturali, in the ambit of the curriculum called “archivistico-librario”, is foreseen the teaching of Theory and techniques of cataloguing and classification (Rector’s Decree, December 19th 1989, title V, art. 31) but it becomes productive only since the 1992/1993 academic year, when the teacher that already have the teaching of Bibliology – since the Faculty’s birth (1990) – asks for a change of syllabus.

2. Programs. Since 1992 until today, the chair of Theory and techniques of cataloguing and classification has had examination’s prospectus made by some tools to study and to apply cataloguing knowledge during the lessons, and some books considered teaching’s cornerstone. We need to consider that the subject we have discussed has recently become an university syllabus, so often there are not publications for the different arguments we discussed, and on the other side we have to think about the fact that just nowadays the publishing business field has made some librarianship publications which are able to confront the different sides of this subject. These reasons imply that cataloguing syllabus are used to refer to the “tools of one’s trade”, source of reference through which we learn techniques, and work out theories we have learnt.

Just go on specifically. The first year syllabus of Viterbo’s chair seems shorter than before. During the 1992/1993 academic year the general part tends to give an introduction to the subject through the study of one of the historical manuals we talked about before, Serrai’s Le Classificazioni whereas the monographic part shows how to analyse and describe the ancient catalogues of Italian libraries; the second part of the course foresee some instruments that will be given during the course of the lessons, as described standards for the cataloguing, whether of general cataloguing, or ancient books and periodical magazine’s articles of that field able to amplify the visual given during the lessons. If this instruments are part of the monographic course, also for the general part is necessary the learning of the concept shown on Serrai’s publications, learning which is complementary to the knowledge of some rules and theoretical instruments to use in a powerful way semantic cataloguing: “controlled dictionaries” and cataloguing systems, used in Italy and abroad. It’s important to underline how the dichotomy of the semantic cataloguing and of the describing cataloguing is apart in every chair’s course, such as inside the formal description are discussed whether the ancient side or modern one, and in modern one we have gradually an evolution tending to amplify the perspectives to electronic and multimedia resources.

The following 1993/1994 academic year re-propose the previous year program, amplify the monographic part by the presentation of themes concerning literature, through the study of La pratica del leggere written by the same holder of the chair; that book propose a view above reading practices and offer an unusual angularity of a subject often away from book’s disciplines. Like the past year, aid’s materials are distributed to the students during the lessons. During the 1994/1995 academic year the program was really amplified: general part and monographic course remained unspoilt, but in the Guida dello Studente is specify that the candidates, during the exam, will orientate oneself by reading the tables of Dewey’s decimal classification, and by reading the Soggettario, the instruments that we introduced at the beginning of the section, any-way is necessary remember that in this case is simply expound a habit started since the first year: the direct use of the cataloguing instruments used in all the Italian libraries employed during the daily work of cataloguers and librarians, to prepare pragmatically the future professional men and women.

The practice side is borne by publications fit to strengthen theoretical basis; are proposed explicative books to use the same instruments directed either to the explanation of the conceptual method of Dewey’s classification and the sequent use of the system, or publications concerning the history of classification and model’s evolution during the centuries, among recommended readings is also present the particular side of Storia della lettura with the publication indicate as exam’s book in the previous year.

During this year the traditional course of Theory and techniques is supported by the practices course about Research and bibliographic techniques on ancient book made by the researcher M. Rossi, and this course is considered an important part of the main teaching. The way of support the main lecture with some exercises will be almost always used, and will nourish that side of professional and practical preparation we talked about before.

In 1995/1996 the program has not changed much, the monographic course is about catalogues and classification’s ways that were used during Eight-hundred in Italian libraries; the knowledge of semantic and cataloguing instruments is requested, for example Soggettario and Dewey, supported by the study of publications about History of classification concerning the reading practice; the piece of new of this year is the introduction, in the program, of books only concerning librarianship or bibliography and, on cataloguing side, the deepening of techniques inherent to ancient book’s treatment.

In 1996/1997 the monographic course undergoes another evolution and the title of the course becomes: Theory and practices of book’s cataloguing, classification, and librarian position between ’700 and ’800; the course is supported, as before, by some practices which are a very important part of the same course. The program became full of a lot of publications, and some of them must be read by the students before exams, and in these readings we can find a publication of the teacher in Beni culturali. Ricerca, Didattica. Profili professionali, edited by the Department of Historical subjects of Naples' University, called Metodi e criteri di stratigrafia bibliotecaria. Indexing and catalogue as instruments of information; an essay by Gianna Del Bono concerning the library's catalogue of the collection Diomede Bonamici from the Biblioteca Nazionale di Firenze, another historical and cataloguing contribution by M. Rossi; an article from librarianship side by Giovanni Di Domenico about the organization of collections in an university library; a very important publication, the Petzholdt one, interesting for the historical perspective offered in the introduction of librarian and cataloguing techniques which were used in the past; and also some articles edited on "Culture del Testo e del Documento" concerning the catalogue of the king of Naples' private library and the catalogue of the Biblioteca palatina mediceo lotaringia. To getting through the exam, is necessary to gain the knowledge and interpretation of Dewey's decimal classification and of the Soggettario.

1997/1998 does not show differences compared to previous year, whether referring to the publications we discussed, or referring to exercises. During following year (1998/1999), monographic course is concentrated on reading themes, books are shorter, we haven't got the different readings that have to be decided according to the teacher, whereas we come back to different publications previous chosen on a specific list. The practices become richer with the final year students' course, an exercises course that will support the chair of Theory and techniques, opened both to the final year students of the course, and to the students of similar subjects (Restoring of book, Bibliography, Librarianship, Bibliology, etc.); these exercises coordinated by the teacher, have the purpose to introduce the final year students to the writing of their own graduation thesis: this is what is requested for the attendance of the course, the previous knowledge of the volume Teoria e pratica della redazione. Guida alla compilazione dei testi e alla loro preparazione per la stampa, by Di Domenico.

In 1999/2000, from one side exercises are kept, opened to the students of the course, also the final year students one, on the other side, texts of the previous year are coming up again as studying and exams' program.

From 2000/2001 next to the holder of the chair appear a team of three: Maria Cristina Misiti, Gianna Del Bono, Chiara Carlucci. The three of this team (researchers and a person who receives a research grant) are concerned to practices and complete the principal course with auxiliary lessons; further the introduction to the original iter that tends to the analysis of bibliographic taxonomy through the reading of Lezioni americane by Italo Calvino, then follows: Misiti, researcher, offers a global view on techniques and standards used in the field of describing cataloguing of ancient book (ISBD(A)), Bowers' description, Gaskell's description, analysis of the wrapper and biological structure; Del Bono, researcher, is concerned to describing cataloguing of modern book (RICA, ISBD(M) International Standard Bibliographic Description for Monographic Publications, (NBM) Non Book Material, (S) Serial); last but not least Carlucci, a person who receives a research grant, introduce to cataloguing of electronic resources (ISBD(ER) Electronic Resources). The texts recommended to prepare an examination are, for monographic course Lezioni americane by Calvino, Il futuro della lettura edited by Vivarelli, that continues on the way inherent the story and the techniques of reading, Il libro antico by Rossi, for the first cycle of practices; the graduation thesis of the person who receives a research grant, dr. Carlucci, teacher of the third cycle of practices, La biblioteca di uno scienziato. Giovanni Giorgi e i suoi libri, and the publication inherent the introduction to the semantic cataloguing (Dewey and Soggettario), for the exercises part, concerning modern book given to dr. Del Bono; in the end, Esercizi bibliografici su carta e via elaboratore, still a publication of dr. Carlucci, for the treatment of electronic material. Further the mentioned text, is an important part of the study the knowledge and the direct use of the standards shown during the practices.

From 2001/2002, University found, in the field of the new rules of university studies, the triennial course of degree, the chair conform itself to the new valuation's parameter in CFU. There are many collaborators to teach: C. Cavallaro and K. Dormi, that hold practices of history of cataloguing and bibliographical-librarianship analysis. The attendance of the course about Theory and techniques and the exam give to students of the new rules of studying 6 CFU which are the equivalent of 48 hours of lessons. The course has three forms of 16 hours for each one: the first form is called "Generalità" and is divided in two parts, the 1st one faces the meaning of the subject and the content of this topic field in Italy, the concept of cataloguing and classification, the conception of catalogue, and shows the specific literature about codes, cataloguing standards and forms of classification. To understand the definition of cataloguing and classification, some readings are suggested: the contribution La catalogazione by Rossella Dini in Lineamenti di biblioteconomia, Catalogazione by Mauro Guerrini and the headword Catalogazione of the Enciclopedia italiana, Le classificazioni by Serrai, Il nuovo in biblioteca by Luigi Crocetti, in the end an article by Revelli. In the 2nd part of "Generalità" is analysed the theoretical introduction to descriptive cataloguing, nominal catalogues and their function, concept's registration, form, access and indexes, suggested publications: the Italian translation (given during the lessons) of The Crisis in Cataloging by Osborn, I principi di Parigi, La catalogazione dopo Parigi by Pino Buizza, Il dibattito in Italia sulle norme di catalogazione per autore, by M. Guerrini, Sistemi bibliotecari e meccanismi catalografici and Biblioteche e cataloghi by Alfredo Serrai, Introduzione allo studio della biblioteconomia by Solimine, Il catalogo by Revelli, the article Evoluzione della tecnica descrittiva by Rossi, L'analisi bibliografica e i livelli di descrizione by M. Guerrini, in the end the work of Giulia Visentin Passaggi: tecniche della catalogazione per autore nel Servizio Bibliotecario Nazionale.

The second form, "La catalogazione" deepens the descriptive theme going specifically through codes and used standards, analysing RICA and some notions of AACR, with practices on book materials and bibliographic ones which are kept in the library of the Department. Sometimes the RICA are used like exam's text, as the 8 formats of the ISBD standard (G, M, S, A, ER, CM, PM, NBM); it is also used as book for examinations: Problemi di trattamento catalografico delle fonti orali, the Italian version of AACR ISBD(M). Introduzione ed esercizi and ISBD(S). Introduzione ed esercizi, by Dini and Crocetti, still by Crocetti an introductory article to AACR2 and some readings having as object derivative cataloguing. Are also used Riflessioni su principi, standard, regole e applicazioni, and Manuale del catalogatore, specifically the words soggettazione by Casamassina, and classificazione by Crocetti. In the end, the long program for this academic year, in which the individual way has to be decided with the teacher, ends the third form: “Storia della catalogazione e indicizzazione”, in which are shown the concepts of subjects and subject’s words, classical cataloguing, an introduction to FRBR, so the functional requisites for bibliographic registration and a global view about history of cataloguing. For the part concerning the “soggettazione” are normally used Soggettario and Liste di aggiornamento (1956-85, 1986-98), Bottasso, Revelli, Simonetti, Serrai, Foskett. As far as concerned classification, the suggested readings are: the 21. Dewey, an article by Grignani, La classificazione decimale Dewey by Crocetti, Quaderno Dewey, Guida alla classificazione decimale Dewey, by Zanobi and Grignani, in the end Di libro in libro: la classificazione Dewey in 370 esempi. For FRBR is suggested the reading of three different texts by choice: the final report of Ifla Study Group on the FRBR, or else the introduction to FRBR by Ghilli-Guerrini. For the section concerning history of cataloguing, some texts are suggested: Il futuro della descrizione, an essay by Guerrini, or Il parente povero della catalogazione by Dini, Regole italiane di catalogazione per autori by Galli, Storia della bibliografia, Storia e critica della catalogazione bibliografica by Serrai. In the Guida dello studente is said that for each form will be necessary to sift the readings suggested and arrange them before attend exam of the end of the course.

This year there won’t be the final year students course: from one side the old rule are going to get exhausted, on the other side for the attendance of the new rule’s students, it won’t be necessary the institution of a such kind of practices. Not only because they are just far away graduation, but also for the different nature of the new thesis compared to the old rule ones.

The academic year 2002/2003 and 2003/2004 do not show big differences compared to the previous year; in 2002 Cavallaro and Dormi cooperated again with the chair with history of cataloguing practices and of bibliographical-librarianship analysis, the division of the course in three forms is kept: “Generalità”, “La catalogazione”, “Storia della catalogazione e della indicizzazione”; suggested readings are the ones enumerated in the previous year program, and it is also the same valence of CFU for the attendance to the course, which is still of 6 CFU. In 2003, place side by side the holder of the chair, the two that won the doctorate, Calvitti and Grillo.

In the end, for the academic year 2004/2005 do not change the co-operations, the division of the course into three forms and the bibliography of the exam, whereas the CFU are changing connected to the attendance of the course and the getting through an exam, from 6 CFU we go to 10, but the variation depends from the university politic, that can change CFU and the last of the courses. The fact that the choice of the texts suggested has grown during years makes evident what we said at the beginning: from 1992 to nowadays many other universities opened faculty of Conservazione dei Beni Culturali, comprehensive of the course of “Archivistico-librario”, making possible an evolution of the subject in the academic field that, from one side brought to the absorption between university teachers of practitioners of the field with a lot of experiences about libraries, on the other side it had as consequence the development of a chain of meetings and place where exchange informations always greater in which new themes can be discussed again. These experiences found a way of circulation among the students, making possible the publication of handbooks ad hoc for the different fields and sides of the subject, and at the same time brought important Italian institutes and bibliographic agencies to make translations of texts that were born in librarianship fields, much more than the Italian one, concurring the growing of sectorial magazines that surely helped the exchange of opinions and the rise of new discussions.

4. Final year students' course. During the academic year 1998/1999 starts the final year students' course, a 15 days meeting, organized following the teacher's obligations and the final year students' ones, thought and realized to give to the students that are close to the graduation, but opened to all the students and above all to the ones who are going to write the thesis, a place where have meetings and opinions' exchange about the research going and the way of studying that was used, it is also a datum point and a comparison with the teacher. In this meetings are given possibilities how to write the thesis, the written parts are read, and the different themes which are the object of the thesis are deepened, with the purpose to correct them, change them, before the next meeting; for his informal character the final year students' course has been an important place of work and experimentation: it was attended not only by the most part of the final year students of these years (also from other subjects), but went out from that experience the names of the people who continued on the way of research: T. Calvitti (specialized, then a person who is going to take a university degree in Udine); C. Carlucci, K. Dormi (people who received a research grant in Viterbo, then people who are going to take a university degree in Cosenza); C. Cavallaro (a person who received a research grant in Viterbo, then a person who is going to take a university degree in Firenze, then in Siena, then researcher in Cosenza); M. Di Geronimo (specialized, then a person who is going to take a university degree in Udine and a person who receives a research grant in Viterbo), M. Grillo (specialized, then a person who is going to take a university degree in Udine), G. Vullo (librarian who's getting on, then a person who is going to take a university degree in Udine).

5. Related thesis. The thesis which were given during the twelfth years following the institution of the chair of Theory and techniques cover themes both from the area of Viterbo, which are prescribed by the synergy between the university and the place where it has its own place, and from Tuscany area, that is a very lively place from the librarianship point of view and always opened to cooperate with the University, and in the end, some different areas and institutes often connected to the students' place of origin. From 1992, which is the year of the beginning of the chair's activity, until March 2005, a total of 66 thesis have been given and discussed: 51 of the old rule, 15 of new rule, of which four are 1st level graduation and eleven for the 2nd level (the 2nd level graduation in "Gestione e valorizzazione della documentazione scritta e multimediale" started from the academic year 2002/2003). Of 51 thesis of the old rule, 29 have been concerned ancient book's cataloguing, 11 were about modern book's cataloguing, 9 about bibliography, 1 about history of publishing, 1 about book's restoration; the four 1st level graduation's thesis were about modern cataloguing; in the end, about the eleven 2nd level thesis, the cataloguing field have seen the discussion of a total of: 1 for the ancient and 7 for the modern one, and the bibliographic field was covered by 3 thesis. Let scatter the data per year:

1995. The first Theory and techniques of cataloguing and classifications' thesis have been discussed in 1995; one belong to cataloguing field and concern ancient book's description, or rather sixteenth century's proclamations and manuscripts owned by the Biblioteca Comunale of Viterbo (Osbat); the other thesis lay the foundation for the future, profitable cooperation between the chair and the Biblioteca Chelliana of Grosseto, of which ancient stock, a lot of final year students, graduated, specialized students and people who are going to take a university degree, will study on.

1996: During the following year the chair is going concern properly, the number of the thesis, the people who are getting a graduation will be nine, so the new themes will be extended to the area of modern bibliographic material. The first thesis talks about the study and the cataloguing description of a private modern library given by a scientist to a superior technique institute in Rome; the second one looks at bibliographical side, studying the area of Viterbo through the cataloguing of further than 1000 publications private collection of institutes and bodies of Viterbo, who gave the material; the third thesis analyses the descriptive cataloguing side, studying an ancient stock from the Tuscany area, which is the Fondo Haupt of the Biblioteca Badii of Massa Marittima; the next one offers a catalogue of editions of the sixteenth century kept in Viterbo in the Biblioteca Comunale degli Ardentì, so the cataloguing of the sixteenth century publications which are kept in there; with the fifth thesis that has been discussed during 1996, the construction techniques of an analytic index are discussed, in this specific case from one of the main point of the sectorial literature, the Storia delle Biblioteche d'Italia by Bottasso; we come back in the Viterbo's area with a properly cataloguing work: the analysis of some eight hundred editions from Biblioteca Comunale di Viterbo, and one thesis of cataloguing description about ancient material in the area from Lazio, the penultimate has been discussed during this year in cooperation with the Italian literature chair and analyses two great Italian literary figures and this thesis has the title of Prezzolini e Calvino due intellettuali alla ricerca dei classici; in the end we come back to the bibliographical side studying the evolution of national historical bibliography, using "bibliometrical" techniques.

1997: Six graduation thesis are discussed, concerning mainly the cataloguing side of ancient materials, anyway during this year has been presented also a thesis on history of publishing, in which is given the profile of the editor Giovanni Scheiwiller; than there is a thesis of reconnaissance and ordering of the Fondo Manfrè, a private collection given to the Department's library (DISCUTEDO) of the Faculty by Guglielmo Manfrè; the teacher, eminent figure of the librarian sector, collected during his life a valuable library of professional books, given to the same Department; the thesis is a descriptive and semantic catalogue, right now the only one existent about the stock. Let come back on the ancient cataloguing field, with a thesis on an eighteenth century stock of the Accademia dei Rinnovati of Massa (again the Tuscany trend); a thesis about cataloguing of sixteenth hundred editions of the Biblioteca Provinciale Alessandro Cialdi of Civitavecchia, and with the next two thesis carry on in cataloguing of sixteenth hundred editions from Ardentì.

1998: Ancient material is still favoured: the new graduations year begins with the discussion of a thesis, the argument of which became later the main object of a doctorate, concerning the writing of the Fondo Cartusiano of the Certosa of Serra San Bruno. Let's go on with the analysis and description, on one hand of Girolamo Ruscelli's sixteenth century editions kept in Rome's libraries and in the Vatican City, on the other hand by the editing of the catalogue of sixteenth century editions of the Seminario of Tuscania. The year ends with a thesis about the bibliography of Tito Lucrezio Caro.

1999: There are five thesis discussed in this year, the first one is connected with the last one of the previous year, continuing the bibliographical side, that made real in the indexing of Il Bibliotecario magazine. Later we come back in the cataloguing side, a thesis that has as main object the construction of the analytic catalogue of the seventeenth century editions from Biblioteca Diocesana of Narni; with the following it's going to be produced the catalogue of sixteenth century editions from the Biblioteca dell'Abazia romana di San Paolo fuori le Mura, and the next candidate got her graduation with a thesis about the cataloguing of seventeenth century editions from the Biblioteca Alessandro Cialdi of Civitavecchia, this library was already used for a previous graduation thesis. As a conclusion of the year we have a cataloguing essay on the collection of the layer Pietro Gentili, a modern stock that will be the object of thesis still in 2001.

2000: We have three thesis discussed in this year, the first one shows a cataloguing essay of the seventeenth century editions of the Biblioteca degli Ardenti, the second thesis moves from the properly cataloguing side, making up a project of edition, restoring and conservation of ancient and not-used catalogues of the Biblioteca Chelliana of Grosseto; on this subject other thesis will come back in the future, and a doctorate's project is going to be presented; the third on proposes the cataloguing of another part of the sixteenth century editions of Viterbo.

2001: Four are the thesis presented during the 2001 graduation's session: the beginning is from the cataloguing work on the collection of the layer Pietro Gentili from Viterbo, going on with a cataloguing thesis on cartographic material, the stock of the princes of Duino; the compilation of the private stock's catalogue that was of a layer from Grosseto, sixteenth and seventeenth century editions' catalogue from Biblioteca del Seminario Vescovile of Caserta.

2002: In this year seven students got the graduation; the majority of the thesis was born from orientation and vocational trainings that took place in different institutes of Tuscany; moreover the first new rule thesis is discussed, it moves away from Viterbo's context, with the cataloguing of seventeenth century editions from Biblioteca degli Ardenti of Viterbo, and from the second thesis the historical stocks of the Tuscany libraries are analysed, beginning from the cataloguing of the Fondo Scovil kept in the Gabinetto di lettura G. P. Vieusseux, going on with the analysis the reading tendencies, to draw a profile in the Maremma context of the nineteenth century, made through the cataloguing of the Fondo Angelo Caterini nearby the Badii of Massa Marittima with the forth thesis, which is again a product of a training, the cataloguing of a modern historical stock has been ended: the Lascito Tordi of the Biblioteca Comunale Centrale di Firenze. As we will see, the works that have been realized during the vocational Tuscany's stages, have not only made possible the compilation of the thesis we mentioned, but also they gave life to a lot of publications, often realized with the direct cooperation of the institute that was interested. In the end, opposite to the previous thesis, the last one discussed this year wasn't born from formative cooperation, but shows a cataloguing essay of less important material: booklets that are from a private collection.

2004: In 2004 are discussed thesis that start again discussions already guided and trainings' final works that continue to take up students; during this year we see the presentation of a cataloguing thesis about modern material kept nearby the Biblioteca del Consiglio nazionale dei dottori commercialisti of Roma, the catalogue of another modern historical stock, the Lascito Boncinelli, private library given and kept nearby the Biblioteca Comunale Centrale di Firenze, that was already the place of previous trainings and graduation thesis; the prosecution of the edition of Chelliani catalogues, in this specific case the numbers 45, 46, 47 and 49, to end the year with another thesis which is the product of a training, the cataloguing of the Fondo Luciano Bianciardi nearby the homonymous Foundation situated in Grosseto. Also during 2004, we have a discussion of a second level thesis, the candidate shows a work that concerns ex novo the electronic field, through indexing and survey of bibliographical tracks of the Fondo Orvieto, kept nearby the Archivio A. Bonsanti in Florence, correlating the digitalisation of a papery catalogue with the description derived from publications.

2005: This year of the chair's activities has seen till now-a-day the discussion of three old rule thesis concerning the cataloguing of the seventeenth century editions of Viterbo, the writing of the Giuseppe Lombardi private collection's catalogue (he was a librarian of the Casanatense in Rome); the collection, given after his death to the Library of the Faculty of Conservazione di Beni Culturali of the Università della Tuscia and, as a conclusion, the enquiry on the valuation's method of the on line book binding. In the field of the new rule 1st level graduations, we have the discussion of a thesis that is the continuation of the second level thesis discussed the previous year: the digitalisation of the papery catalogue kept in the Fondo Orvieto of Florence. In the end, as far as concern the 2nd level field of specialistic graduations, we have a thesis which has as object the catalogue of plants and views gained by the Museo di Roma; and one thesis which is still the product of a training that took place nearby a Tuscany institute: the Biblioteca Comunale of Pitigliano (GR), where Giovanni Vignoli private pieces of paper have been catalogued and rearranged. G. Vignoli was a figure of the Tuscany Municipality, know for his librarian rule nearby the Biblioteca Apostolica Vaticana of Rome.

Trainings of Tuscany region

As already mentioned the Tuscany's biblioteconomic and bibliographic circle allowed to the chairs some profitable cooperation, which have a concrete expression in orientation and vocational trainings, that sometimes became work rations. Since 2001 exist a suitable convention between the Settore Musei, Biblioteche, Istituzioni culturali della Direzione generale delle Politiche formative Beni e Attività culturali della Regione Toscana e il Dipartimento di Storia e Culture del Testo e del Documento della Facoltà di Conservazione dei Beni culturali dell'Università degli Studi di Viterbo (the others university institutions interested in, are: the Facoltà di Lettere e Filosofia dell'Università degli Studi di Firenze, the Dipartimento di Storia dell'Università degli Studi di Pisa, the Università degli Studi di Siena). The prescriptive requirements that made possible these cooperation are the law no. 196 of June 24th, 1997 "Norme in materia di promozione dell'occupazione" and the following intra-governmental decree no.142 of March 25th, 1998, that introduced an integrated vision between instruction and education's paths and the job's world, fixing the normative picture of the orientation and vocational trainings. Trainings are final year students and graduated since no more 18 months in subjects concerning the bibliographic field; trainings venues are Tuscany's libraries and cultural institutes chosen for the project presented by the Settore biblioteche. Region stipulates a suitable convention with the selected the Tuscany venues to the regulates the stages. For every trainees is written an orientation project containing aims and conditions to unwind the training, then the venue, tutor's names (the regional one, the university one and the host subject's name), the insurance's essential data (charged to universities), the term and the training's beginning and end the university tutor is the didactic organizing responsible with the tutor of the host subject. They are assisted by the manager of the Settore musei. As a regional tutor chosen by the same religion to coordinate the trainings. We have two trainings' typologies: orientation training (to make easier the professional choices knowing the job), and vocational training (to increase the professional competences). Trainings are promoted to offer significant and real opportunities to the trainees to move closer into the libraries and archives' world, and to acquire specific professionalism in the librarianship and bibliographic field and to develop professional competences that enrich the own curriculum vitae. As further incentive the Tuscany region credits to every trainee a stage premium given following the positive valuation of the final report written by the university tutor, and the regional and host subject owners, and also after the end of the training within 12 months. The choice to remunerate the trainings is innovative and discretionary: the law does not foresee for the body a compensation liability. Since 2001 until 2003 trainings have had a term included from 3 to 5 months [only in extraordinary cases the term can be much more, but not over 12 months, as foreseen by the provisions. After the university system's modifications, in 2004 we see stages' different terms: 300 hours for first level graduated and 500 hours for final year students/graduated of the new rule second level and for the old university rule, with a different stage premium for the trainees. Here is a list of the treated trainings:

2001. Firenze. Biblioteca del Gabinetto G.P. Vieusseux: cataloguing of the Fondo Scovil. Intervention to create a computational cataloguing of an already existent data base of important stocks not yet described; the Fondo Scovil (about 1000 books), is a private library with a lot of editions of XVIII, XIX, XX centuries.

2002. Firenze. Biblioteca Comunale Centrale: Fondo Tordi. Intervention oriented to the study of the Lascito Tordi (given to the Biblioteca Centrale di Firenze, on December 22nd, 1930). The stock consists of heterogeneous material: monographies (approximately 300), miscellanies, manuscripts, pictures and plans, for a total of about 1000 units. The legacy is catalogued in the library's papery catalogue per author and titles, whereas the data processing cataloguing of monographic material is almost complete, and is finished the one concerning miscellanies. The work is about a recognition to locate other pieces belonging to the Lascito Tordi present in the library or in other conservation's premises of Florence Municipality (today, ancient prints and maps of Florence already given to the same municipality by Domenico Tordi in 1917, and kept nearby the Museo Topografico "Firenze com'era"); the cataloguing's finishing and the improving of the already existent catalogue, with a particular attention to respect homogeneous standards during cataloguing; the study of the stock to reconstruct the historical and political events that brought to a subdivision of the stock in various offices of the municipality of Florence, with the final object reconstruct the history of the same stock.

2002. Firenze. Biblioteca del Gabinetto G.P. Vieusseux: survey of the books stocks. Training orienting to the systematic gathering of the owned book stocks (more than 90), following the file already predisposed by Tuscany region for the “Censimento delle antiche librerie e delle collezioni significative per formazione e provenienza”, started in the ambit of the regional project “Strumenti per la conoscenza del patrimonio storico-librario, documentario e archivistico”, and finalized to the census of book stocks kept in regional area to deepen the knowing about the origin and the formation of historical core of books, that we can find in collections of Tuscany Libraries, and to give instruments to begin politics of valuation. The descriptive file, that was idealized by Luigi Crocetti, is structured on a wide model, which is able to give the essential information about the stock’s history, about the owner/s (bibliographic pieces of new in case of natural person or about founders, purposes and activities in case of juridical person), about the date and the way of acquisition, on the consistency and typology of the materials, about the state of conservation and ordering (cataloguing or stock taking made by the owner, or by the institute that keep them now a day), on the accessibility, about the presents of identifications signs (ex libris, stamps, etc.), on bibliography and about the realization of expositions or other valuation’s activities concerning the stock.

From 1988 the Gramsci Street seat gives hospitality to the Fondazione Ragionieri that now does not exist any more (the books of the Fondazione will converge in the communal patrimony). 2003. Arcidosso (GR). Archivio Storico del Comune di Arcidosso: intervention of stock taking and ordering of handwritten documents and printed material that is situated nearby the Centro di Studi David Lazzaretti. This Centre has got important documents concerning the Lazzarettista movement (a fact that has interested the area of Amiata during the second part of nineteenth century and that still now-a-day is testified by a little number of followers that are members of the Fratellanza e Chiesa Giurisdavidica di Monte Labbro). The communal administration tried to value part of the material obtained, whether through the realization of a new seat of the Study centre nearby the communal palace, or through recovery intervenes on documents, research project and activities for the valuation of the materials. Among the last interventions we have to remember the stock-taking and cataloguing of the Fondo Massimiliano Romei, acquired by the region and used by the Municipality of Arcidosso, from 1993 (have been printed the index and made interventions of scanning on some of the documents that have been collected in 45 CD). Among the centre's materials, remained to be indexed and catalogued to important stocks that contain ancient documents: the Archivio Don Filippo Imperiuzzi; the Sezione David Lazzaretti of the Fondo Leone Graziani. To the activation of the training's project was proposed an intervention of ordering, stock-taking and cataloguing of the Archivio Don Filippo Imperiuzzi, made of almost 1000 documents together with handwritten publications. This documentation is very interesting: the Imperiuzzi clergyman was an important figure in the history of lazzarettismo; he was very close to Lazzaretti and after his death will remain at the head of the community till 1921.

2003. Arezzo. Istituzione “Biblioteca Città di Arezzo”: “Bibliografia Aretina”. Recovery project on electronic support of the handwritten catalogue Bibliografia Aretina with integrations and supplements taken from historical stocks. The Bibliografia Aretina is a volume handwritten catalogue of the first year of '900, in which are collected, in alphabetical order of author and title, the registrations of the publications kept in the library and have a relationship more or less close to the word Arezzo/Aretino. The catalogue collects the publications (from XVI to XX century), that were made by authors of Arezzo (and this is a very general indication, because we find as works of authors from Arezzo, for example, the Petrarca editions or Bellum Adversus Gothos by L. Bruni), the publications printed by typographies with seat in Arezzo, the publications that postpone as a possible subject word to Arezzo and to her reality. Being the catalogue from the first year of '900, the publications collected come all from the Vecchi Fondi Fraternalità dei Laici, (for a total of almost 4640 titles), so of the historical patrimony of the library; so are kept off the publications of other important historical stocks, that came to the library in following period, such as the Gamurrini, Occhini, Bennati libraries, that surely cannot be neglected, but that must be considered as an important part of the research. The project foresaw the research, whether the already existing catalogue or in the other stocks, of the publications that have the legitimacy to be included in Bibliografia Aretina, and do not considering the inconsistent ones; the inclusion in the catalogue of all the publications printed by typography of Arezzo; in an independent way from the subject of all the authors of Arezzo, extrapolating the books that do not have any connection with the history and the reality of Arezzo, of all the publications independently from the author and the place of printing, that postpone as subject or argument to Arezzo's reality. It has been a research and a work on historical stocks that were found in the library, for example: Vecchi Fondi Fraternalità dei Laici, the Fondi Gamurrini, Burali-Forti, Convitto, Occhini, Landucci, Bennati and Fineschi. The work was divided in to different moments: exam of the volume Bibliografia Aretina, with recovery forms on data processing support and cataloguing of the whole work following the methods and the ways already fixed; research in other stocks of the book material with the characteristic already described, moving on data processing support for the forms already existent and filing ex novo of the works not registered; creation of analytic indexes according to the author, typography, printing and place date, argument that give life to different access keys and creation of other research strings. As part of the material to be examined was actually formed, the work has been considered not only as a moving activity, but also as a report on historical stocks of the library, filing and indexing of what wasn't filed: so it was a creation of a libraries section, not in a physic sense, but suitable and able to give some other instruments of knowing and research about the history and the reality of Arezzo. The project made possible the filing following modern standards of different materials such as Miscellanea Gamurrini and Miscellanea Diverse and the Fondo Antico Fineschi.

2003. Firenze. Biblioteca Comunale Centrale: Fondo Boncinelli. The project of the Biblioteca Comunale Centrale has the aim of reconstruct the facts of the Fondo Boncinelli to the Florence Municipality, through the creation of structured documentation, adjourned and able to be moved later on electronic supports on web. There wasn't actually an organic and organised documentation, whether about the donor Francesco Boncinelli, or about his legacy to the Florence Municipality. The objects that had to be reached were: revision of the cataloguing recovery of the legacy made during years; creation of a dossier kept nearby the library with the collected documentation about the legacy; production of a printed catalogue of the Fondo Boncinelli; moving on web of the catalogue.

2003. Firenze. Biblioteca del Gabinetto G. P. Vieusseux: "Biblioteche d'autore". Information cataloguing of the authors' libraries still not catalogued or to be complete. The work has as object the library of Adolfo Orvieto, kept nearby the contemporary archive "A. Bonsanti"; the intervention was divided into two moments: a) conclusion of the reconstruction of the system about the books' position, took from the handwritten forms of the catalogue prepared by the owner. Particularly the work was concentrated on the volumes of the "Sala Bianca" (almost 450), and of the "Sala Rossa" (almost 2270), concluding in this way the work that began in a previous training; this made functional the handwritten catalogue; b) intervention of digitalization on a part of the Sezione Napoleonica della Biblioteca Orvieto: in particular on 335 volumes of which have been produced again the frontispiece and all the pages that bring important things (such as ex libris, autograph dedications, etc.); and the handwritten forms concerning each edition have been digitalized.

2003. Grosseto. Biblioteca della Fondazione Luciano Bianciardi: cataloguing of the fondo L. Bianciardi. The stock, which is still in a collecting phase, is made of material that is of and about Bianciardi, and is entirely a reconstructing work of the homonymous foundation that was born in 1993. Books and magazines have been for the most part of them, bought on antique trade, just few of them donations made by relatives friends, and by admirers of the author. The material is generally original, but often is a photocopy. There are a lot of intervention in magazines about the author. But small is the section concerning letters and cards, almost entirely copies, collected by the family and by friends who keep the original pieces. There is also a little collection of photographic, film and sound materials. Photos and films, are almost all copies, come from RAI's video library. The original ones and all the audio documents are produced by the Foundation: collection of testimonies about the writer, video documentary, recordings of seminars and of conventions. Of what's edited, and about visual material exist a main list that, of each document, registers the essential bibliographic dates, the origin, the cost and the entry date. The list, handwritten on papery support, is ordered following the chronological entry succession and evidences the difference between original and copies. About what is not edited, does not exist a only list. Each donation's folder contains a list of the collected material that registers the entry date, whereas of each document gives an essential description, shows the incipit, the pages or cards' number, when has been possible to see the original one, and also are given equalizations on. The stock is made of bibliographic material and of material coming from a newspaper library, is made by letters of and about Bianciardi; is made of handwritten diary, preparatory material, graphic and iconographical material, and of material which is not a papery one. This training project wanted to proceed to the digital cataloguing of the different types of materials kept following the modern standards of cataloguing description. Because of the foundation was so specific and collects the documents of and about Bianciardi, (which is hardly difficult to conserve in other places), the aim was to improve the consultation so to make possible researches on different materials from everyone that wants to study the figure and the work of this writer of Grosseto.

2003. Pistoia. Biblioteca Comunale Forteguerriana: the transference of the modern patrimony of the Biblioteca Comunale Forteguerriana to the new public library nearby the area ex Breda.

The transference of the modern patrimony of the Biblioteca Forteguerriana to the new public library nearby the area ex Breda implicates a new planning of the services and of the patrimony's direction which is an instrument of that services. In the field of a general project, have been individuated some intervention typologies that, starting from the actual patrimony, have to control the congruence of the prospected solutions in order to the material's selection, and to the standards of increase, to the methods of its treatment according to the acquired procedure, to the expositive system foreseen in the new library and to the classifying system used for it to the planning of a promotion action. Specifically, the training planned for 2003 has been on a project concerning the selection and reclassification of almost 10000 works of the library's modern stock. The study of the selective standards chosen by the library starts from a valuation grill, predisposed following the obsolescence standard of the contents, kept different for the different subjects, the project preview the individualization of the works that deserved the transference in the new locals that had to be accessible in the three areas of the department (Scienza e tecnologie, Scienze umane e sociali, Arti e letterature) thought for the new collocation of the library's materials. To this aim has been predisposed a reconversion table of the classification actually attributed (complete Dewey index) through the use of the reduced version (12. Dewey) compared with the 21 Dewey, except for the cases in which this one was an unsuitable according to the relationship between actual literature and necessity of more specificity, whereas a different solution have been thought for works of contemporary narrative, and for some literary kinds, for which have been though classification notations already used nearby other public libraries. Then will follow the attribution and the modification on cataloguing records (almost 10000) and on the example of the works that need a revision of the classification/position, and a notation to a final study according to the intervention made through a valuation operated on the suitability of the choices made, and also whether according to the selective standards of the collection, or to the use of the Dewey's classification that has been reduced with the integrations made by the library's staff.

2004. Arcidosso (GR). Archivio Storico del Comune di Arcidosso: reconstruction of the letters of David Lazzaretti, supporter of the "giurisdavidico" movement. The intervention has been divided in three main parts: a) reconstruction of the correspondence through the exam of the documents (both original and copies) kept in the different stocks acquired during years by the Centro Studi (fondo Massimiliano Romei, Archivio Don Filippo Imperiuzzi, fondo Giuseppe Fatini, Archivio di Stato di Grosseto) or existent nearby the Archivio della Comunità Giurisdavidica. The letters individualized the beginning have been selected and ordered keeping the chronological entreaty, then listed and catalogued in an analytical way with the use of the MANUS 3.0 software. The total of the collected documents is made of 175 letters and five handwritten produced among 1868 and 1878; b) ordering and cataloguing of the fondo Giuseppe Fatini. This stock helped to comprehend and contextualize the lazzarettista experience. The stock is made of an archivist core that covers an arch of time that goes from 1868 till 1926. Ordering the 149 documents, it was decided to create a division in four sections, ordered in a chronological way: David Lazzaretti (1st section), containing handwritten, letters (1868-1878), for a total of 72 documents, all produced by David, and part of these are copies of the “Registro di lettere particolari e scritti diversi” of the same stock, whereas other are copies of original documents that were already in the fondo Massimiliano Romei; c) scanning of handwritten works of the “prophet”, belonging to the fondo Massimiliano Romei, with the aim to spread them through the internet site that the Centre is preparing. The scanning of handwritten works has been done considering the importance of the conservation, trying to respect the diversity of the material, preserving the original ones from possible damages caused by the long exposure in glass showcase. For each document has been practiced a double resolution scanning, in TIFF for the papery reproduction of imagines, and in JPEG for the spreading on net.

2004. Montepulciano (SI). Biblioteca Comunale di Montepulciano: verification and valuation of the fondo Gesuitico. The project tended to verify, considering the ancient catalogue, the presence of the works in the actual library of ex libris, and to build again virtually the ancient Biblioteca Gesuitica, trying to individualize the exact nature of the missing works, showing the possible existence in other public libraries, or that anyway are opened to the people. The reconstruction is an important part not only of Montepulciano history, but also of the Compagnia di Gesù and of the school’s education history in Italy during XVI and XVIII centuries; the usefulness of this operation will be valued by a short Guide, that explains the bibliographical choices of the “Padri”, and that should be edited together with the catalogue, also in electronic format.

2004. Pistoia. Biblioteca provinciale Forteguerriana: individualization and treatment of modern editions (’800-’900), that show important characteristics: valuation study of selective standards and of the ways of librarianship treatment of the works. It’s going to be planned a preparatory phase that will make as specific as it’s possible the definition of the field in which the project will be applied, through the individualization of the standards of rarity and importance of a modern edition (first edition, limited edition, out of trade edition, edition with autograph dedication, etc.); individualization of instruments that allow the comparison of rare editions, individualization of the treatment of rare and important editions; application of the research’s results to the other collection of the library:

- Collection Ferdinando Martini: the private library of the politician F. Martini (1841-1928), acquired by the library in 1929 and made of almost 12.000 volumes, shows a lot of autograph editions, by important authors of Italian and French literature. The collection is out of loan.

- Collections: the collection arrived to the library mostly as an acquire, ordered second format (A, B, C), for subject (till 1966), and for serials (from 1966 to 1995). The collection was the book stock suitable for reading and loan. It’s still borrow the books.

2004. Pitigliano (GR). Archivio Storico Comunale: ordering of pieces of paper of the Archivio Storico Comunale. The documents on which was the project are contained in 12 envelopes signed by the pressmark D I 40 – D I 51, and cover a period that goes from 1860 to almost 1890. Inside the envelopes are kept some cards and some issues, getting in good conditions.

Inside of each envelope is contained a short indication concerning the content of the same envelope and some cards show a progressive system of numbering. The most substantial part of the documentation concerns the correspondence, kept in numbered issues, that follow this articulation:

- correspondence and works of Abbot Giovanni Vignoli, keeper of the Vatican Library, that were given to the Biblioteca civica di Pitigliano in the second part of '800 by F. Ugolini and F. Cagnacci (Latin handwritten about the Popes' Lives in three tomes and preparatory documents to printing; sonnets, poetry, speeches and translations of letters of sixteenth century; Latin and Italian letters written by Vignoli to lettered men, and from them to the same Vignoli; letters sent to Europe kings; letters to Colonna house to different princes and cardinals for the time in which the abbot Giovanni Vignoli, 1707-1711; many letters sent to the members of Ugolini family, particularly to nephews);
- correspondence Ugolini family (letters between the brothers Giuseppe and Domenico Maria, Vignoli's nephews), dating 1734-1756;
- correspondence Accademia Scientifico-Letteraria di Pitigliano (letters sent to the President, correspondence with lettered men, etc.), dating 1851-1890;
- correspondence about institution and direction of the Biblioteca-museo di Pitigliano (correspondence with the Minister for Public Education, documents concerning donations, letters with the Pio Istituto Consiglio, etc.), dating second half of '800. The envelopes collect also: memories and descriptions about Pitigliano and about Maremma (1852); different miscellanies (1680-1890 approximately) of authors that, anyway, have to be identified.
